Andy Keller, PhD

Executive Vice President of Policy and Programs
Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute

Dr. Keller is a psychologist with more than 20 years of experience in behavioral health policy with particular expertise in health and human services integration, behavioral health financing, and best practice promotion. As Executive Vice President of Policy and Programs for the Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute, Andy is responsible for all behavioral health policy work and all policy deliverables of the organization. He is also a founding partner and senior consultant with TriWest Group, a health systems consulting firm. Andy's work centers on helping local systems implement evidence-based, innovative care, as well as helping local and state governments develop the regulatory frameworks and financial mechanisms to support them. Prior to forming TriWest Group, Andy worked in Colorado at the health plan level with a leading Medicaid HMO and at the provider level with the Mental Health Center of Denver, helping develop care management systems for Denver's transition to a Medicaid managed care mental health system. He also previously directed a range of community-based programs, including assertive community treatment, adult and child outpatient clinics, school-based and early childhood programs, and specialty programs for older adults and Latino communities.

Sue Bornstein, MD, FACP

Executive Director
Texas Medical Home Initiative

Sue Bornstein, MD, FACP is a Board-certified internist. She practiced in a small group setting in Dallas for 12 years. Her passion for improving the care of patients as well as improving the lives of the people who care for them led her to the path she is now traveling. Sue is a graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and Texas Tech School of Medicine. She did her internal medicine residency at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas. Since 2008, Sue has been the driving force behind the non-profit Texas Medical Home Initiative. This practitioner-led organization has as its vision to lay the groundwork for a medical home for every Texan by 2015. Sue is currently serving as Governor for North Texas for the American College of Physicians, the largest specialty medical society in the country. She previously served as Chief of Staff at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas and holds leadership positions in the Dallas County Medical Association and the Texas Medical Association.

John Berta

Senior Director, Policy Analysis
Texas Hospital Association

John Berta is senior director for policy analysis with the Texas Hospital Association. John's primary areas of responsibility include monitoring and reporting on changes in the state budget, providing financial and statistical analysis for all components of the state's Medicaid and CHIP programs, managed care and the uninsured. In addition Mr. Berta is responsible for advising on policy issues related to changes in Medicaid at the federal level and Texas workers' compensation. Mr. Berta joined THA in 1990. Prior to serving at THA John worked as director of financial planning for Thomason Hospital in El Paso (University Medical Center of El Paso). A native of Colorado, John lived in El Paso for more than 20 years graduating with a BBA in accounting from the University of Texas at El Paso.
